Customer Confidence Score:

very confident

We want our customers to feel completely confident about the service which we deliver. The dials above highlight the percentage (%) of customers, during the current reporting period and based on the reporting criteria you selected, that were either "very" or "fairly confident" that their next experience of our services would be good. 90% were either "very or fairly confident" with 71% "very confident". 10% said they were "not very" or "not at all confident".

Since the first survey response date and the end date selected for this report and based on the same reporting criteria, the average score for customers saying they were "very confident" is 71%. 90% said they were either "very or fairly confident" with 10% "not very" or "not at all confident.

Customer Confidence Trend:

The chart below tells us how the customer confidence score has changed over the last six months (including part months) working back from today`s date and based on the same reporting criteria. The trend line highlights the percentage of customers that were "very confident" that their next experience of using our services would be good.

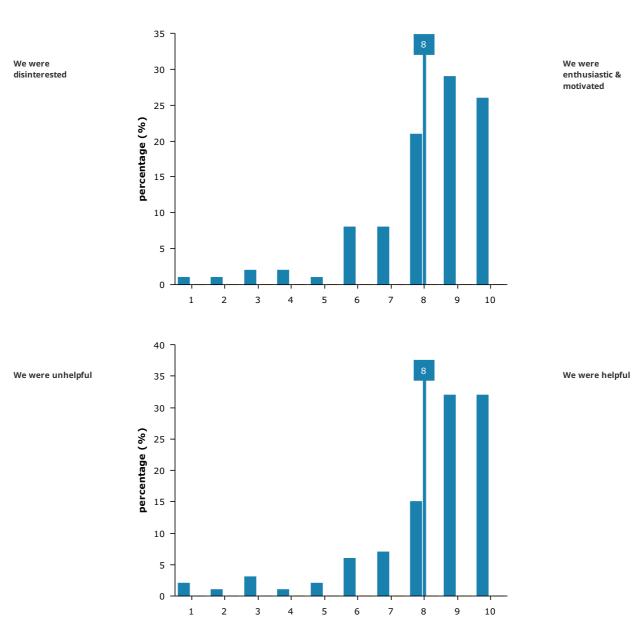

In order for the trend chart to appear, there has to be at least two months within the last six months where at least one survey response was submitted.

The Customer Experience:

The chart below shows how customers rated the service for each of the paired statement slider questions in the survey. The chart illustrates the distribution of responses along with the mean or average scores for both the current as well as the previous reporting period. The length of the previous reporting period will match the length of the current reporting period. If the mean score moves to the right, the average scores during the period are improving. If the mean score has moved to the left the average scores have got worse. You can also view the additional comments made by customers with their corresponding score for each individual question displayed alongside.

• Matt Webb - without Matt i wouldn't hire a fraction of the equipment i do. Matt is quick to respond to any queries, and does his absolute best to ensure our experience is a good one and as smooth as possible, however he cannot be expected to run the company by himself and is thus let down by other departments (1)

Mabey are quick to accept orders, but the actual transportation and delivery of equipment seem to be an afterthought. Collections are very slow and disorganised. Booking in of equipment takes too long. There is not enough effective communication for any discrepancies of off-hired equipment, or notification by Mabey hire of what we have asked to be off-hired, to what has actually been collected and booked back in. Due to this we get alot of invoice queries and cannot maintain correct records.

• Matt Webb & Tracy Barlow (1)
